IN MEMORY OF THE LATE DR. CHAS.

H. CRAGIN. Whereas, in the providence of Aimighty God, CHAS. H. CRAGIN, M. D., a member and the treasurer of the Board of Directors of the Columbia Hospital for Women, has been called to his rest; Therefore, it is, by the said Board of Directors, resolved: resolved:

First. That the loss of one who for so many years has been ideutified with the management of this institution is most keenly felt.

Second. That his uniform courtesy of manner, his manly directness of character, his conscientious devotion to the best interests of the hospital and of all connected therewith, and his good judgment in conducting his share of its duties, have ever commanded for Dr. Cragin the warm respect and confidence of his associates on the Board of Directors, and now excite in them emotions of sorrow at his death.

Third. That his family are requested to accept the unfeigned sympathy of each member of the Board of Directors, with the candid expression of a belief that in his unsulkied reputation throughout a long and useful life he has left them not without a just and reasonable consolation in their bereavement.

GEORGE BUBEAR COMES OVER IN THE SERVIA TO BEAT WALLACE BOSS IF HE CAN. Geo. One of the first men to welcome him was Wallace Ross, the oarsman to get a chance to defeat whom was one of the Englishman's objects in coming to America.

The New York Sun says: Bubear is a modest, good-tempered Devonshire man, who stands 5 feet 8½ inches in racing costume. Right after his arrival he visited Lieut. Bruce at the Turf, Field and Furm office, and then went up to Ross' inn, near the Harlem Bridge, where a big crowd of admirers gathered to shake hands with him. Bubear is only twenty-eight years old. He began his career as an oarsman by winning the first race he ever took part in, which was the four-oared race of 1878 of the Hammersmith Alliance Rowing Club. Then he won the first prize in the senior sculling handicap. Three years ago he was regarded as the best-sculler in England, though he had never rowed for the chamsionship. When he did win the championship cup recently his admirers presented him with a $100 gold medal. He wants to get square with Ross for a defeat on the Thames championship course on March 10, 1884. It was for $1,000, and Ross gave him ten segonds start and won handily. CONSTRUING THE COMMERCE ACT. Important Rulings of the Interstate In addition to the rulings and interpretations o the interstate commerce law, given in THE STAR yesterday, the Commission has made public rulings covering the following points: PENALTIES ONLY FOR INTENTIONAL VIOLATIONS OF

They say the numerous petitions emanating from commerce carriers, or instigated by them, are based upon the assumption that the system of penalties which the law provides as extreme and the risk imposed upon unintentional and unwilling violators of its provisions as enormous. Such comment, say the Commission, is neither fair nor just; it is only intentional violations that the penalties are for. "Good faith," say the commission, "exhibited in an honest effort to carry out the requirements of the law, will involve reasonable and fair-minded elasticity of the statute in their favor is noticeable. The unjust discrimination of section 2 must be 'in a like and contemporaneous se vice in the transportation of a like kind of traffic under substantially similar circumstances and conditions.' The preference or advantage of section 3 must be 'undue or unreasonable.' Throughout the act, as it now stands in confes perimental form, there is exhibited an obvious Several days ago two good-looking men rented a tions ample scope in the conduct of their business as common carriers for the people, and fair con-sideration of every reasonable claim, while insisting upon just, impartial, open and consistent rates of charge, to which every citizen shall be subject alike whose situation is the same. Surely the people could not ask for less." CHARGES OF COMMON CARRIERS MUST BE REASONA-BLE AND JUST.

In regard to the course of common carriers in increasing their rates, the Commission holds that that is unjustifiable. They say: "The language and the tenor of the act wholly fail to justify railroad | The esponsibilities, decline to offer rates, neglect to anounce conditions of traffic, embarrass the cus tomary interchange of business and impose stagnation upon trade while they "stick in the bark" of the phrases and expressions of the law, inventing doubts and imagining dangers. It is still more unjustifiable for railroad companies to make use of he general clauses of the law, ignoring its modify ing and enlarging words and formulas in order to impose additional burdens upon localities, trades ssions, manufacturers, consumers, classes of travelers or employes, straining and repressing every construction in favor of the corporate treasury, and quoting the new law as their authority for all manner of petty exactions. The powers of the Commission are entirely adequate to cope with such conduct, the existence of which is not affirmed, although it has been somewhat pub-licly suggested. The same statute which enacts that charges for like service shall be uniform to all also provides that charges in every case, and for every kind and class of service, shall be reason-LONG AND SHORT HAUL

In reply to applications by railroads for suspension of the long and short haul clause which do not set forth facts to warrant such suspension, the Commission state that the law lays down a general rule which must be applied in all cases; that the statement of the railroad must be veri-fied, and the Commission before granting the peti-tion must be satisfied that the facts are as set

CHEAP RATES FOR PREACHERS. As to whether railroads may transport ministers t the gospel at reduced rates, "There is no doubt," Judge Cooley writes, "of the right of the railroads to grant special privileges to religious teachers, and in deciding in good faith what they will do they can scarcely be said to incur risk of penalties. Penalties are for willful violations of law, and not for errors of judgment." SPECIAL RATES TO GOVERNMENT CONTRACTORS.

In response to certain questions submitted by H. L. Muldrow, Acting Secretary of the Interior, as to whether the granting of special rates by common carriers to contractors with the govern-ment, enabling the latter to transport materials and supplies sold to the government at lower rates, might be considered or held as the carriage, storage or handling of property at reduced rates for the United states, the Commissioners say that while they have declined to consider abstract questions deference to a Government department while they have declined to consider abstract questions, deference to a Government department inclines them to answer this query. They decide that the transportation is "for the United States," in the words of the interstate commerce law, and it is immaterial that it is done by contractors when the Government receives the benefit of the free or reduced rates, as it must be presumed to do when the bids are made in reliance upon the expectation that such rates will be granted.

pendence, Mo., says: The case of Saml. C. Schaeffer, late of Lancaster, Ohio, has been dismissed in ary term, 1885, with attempting to bring about the murder of the millionaire John I. Blair, of Blairstown, N. J. The case has been called at each term since docketed, but on account of the absence of the prosecuting witness, Charles Allen, at Kansas City for assault upon the life of Schaeffer. He will be tried shortly. Schaeffer is a young man and his debut in the west was as a repreerty. He is himself now immensely wealthy. Mr. Blair accused him of fraud in 1884, and the grand jury indicted him. The court gave him twenty years' imprisonment, but the Supreme Court decided that Missouri had no jurisdiction over him; that the alleged illegal transaction took place in the East. So Schaeffer was released. Soon Mr. Blair was called on at his home in New Jersey by Chas. Alien, who stated that Schaeffer had hired him to kill Mr. Blair, and that the contract had been made while the two were in jail at Kansas City. Upon the strength of Allen's testimony search has revealed the fact that he is not and friends from Ohio and Kansas City were pre with him in court, Hon. M. Spencer, of the twelfth judicial circuit, was to have tried the case, it having been claimed that Judge White could not impartially try the case.

THE LEGISLATURE RESPONDING TO THE STRONG PRO-HIBITION PEELING. sas City. Upon the strength of Allen's testimony Schaeffer was indicted, but Allen has not been seen for some time. The case was once continued on the ground that Allen was in the penitentiary, but search has revealed the fact that he is not and the polls by a small majority, the legislature is now giving attention to the enactment of a higherlicense law. It is proposed to fix the saloon license for towns of 10,000 and upwards at $700 and the bond at $10,000, the license and bond decreasing in amount as the size of the town decreases. The minimum license, however, is fixed at $300. There is thought to be little doubt of this measure passing the legislature.
